FIFA is the world's most popular sport. Played by a global audience of over 500 million in over 209 countries and territories, FIFA is one of the most recognised brands in the world. With over 2,300 official matches every year, the association football calendar is almost as volatile as the sports calendar itself. EA SPORTS FIFA games are the most authentic in the sports genre and the newest versions of these games offer a significant leap in creativity and innovation compared to previous titles. PlayStyle - We've given you everything you need to play how you want PlayStyle is a concept we introduced in FIFA 19. The key goal is to ensure you can play how you want, with the tools you need and when you need them. The aim is to make you feel like you're playing your favourite game - not in a shallow, quick-fix way, but as a real soccer fan. PlayStyle is about giving you the best tools and leaving you to control how you build and score your matches. For example, you can be more tactical, more open or more modern in your approach. You can even fine tune your team to reflect the players you have and the positions you want them to occupy. If you want to just play your normal game of soccer, the menus will let you do just that - without the distractions of menus and settings popping up constantly. Goalkeepers Goalkeepers can now make runs before receiving the ball from any teammates, and any passes made by the goalkeeper before the ball comes to them will be targeted to them. This will enable them to make more of an impact in the build-up and help to keep possession. Captaincy FIFA 22 lets you lead the team from the touchline as the Captain. It's now up to you to make all final decisions - whether that's individual tactics, substitutions, your formation or any of the other key game settings. Manage your squad and they'll play in your way, just like they're meant to. Another key goal is to add more depth to how your team responds to the challenges of the new Manage Your Players and Extra Time systems. Manage Your Players Every action you make in the Manage Your Players tool will immediately affect your team in game - the length of your shots and passes, the pace and the amount of weight your player has. These actions can be used
