Description: It is provided to the visitors free of cost. You may also likeBoxsall quarry Boxsall Quarry (, ) is a 2.3 km2 former quarry complex that is located approximately 1 km south-west of the settlement of Bukovec in the Municipality of Sevnica in Slovenia. The quarry was opened in 1855 and was used for the extraction of fossils in sandstone. In the second half of the 20th century, the quarry was used for limestone extraction. The quarry had a cement factory from 1937 to 1990; it was used for the production of Portland cement.
